Sanctions and Export Control Compliance Policy

ISP GROUP LLC — United States

1. Purpose and scope

This policy states how ISP GROUP LLC complies with the sanctions and export control laws of the United States. It applies to the company, to its member and to anyone acting for it, in every transaction, in every country, without exception.

ISP GROUP LLC is a company incorporated in the State of Florida and is subject to United States law, including the sanctions programmes administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control of the US Department of the Treasury (OFAC) and the export control regulations administered by the Bureau of Industry and Security of the US Department of Commerce (BIS).

2. Commitment

The member of the company is responsible for compliance with this policy and may not delegate that responsibility away. No commercial consideration, no customer relationship and no order value justifies a departure from it. Where a transaction cannot be made compliant, the company declines the transaction.

3. Who we screen, and when

Before every quotation, before every contract and before every payment we screen:

- the counterparty, by legal name and by any trading name used;
- the owners of the counterparty, and any person who controls it;
- the end user of the goods, where that is not the counterparty;
- the consignee, the notify party and the ultimate destination;
- the vessel, the carrier and the bank, where they are known to us.

Screening is repeated before payment because ownership and listings change between the quotation and the shipment. A clear screening result obtained at the quotation stage is not carried forward to settlement.

4. Lists we screen against

We screen against the Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons List and the Consolidated Sanctions List of OFAC, the Denied Persons, Entity and Unverified Lists of BIS, the Consolidated United Nations Security Council Sanctions List, the consolidated list of the European Union and the UK Sanctions List.

Ownership is assessed against the fifty per cent rule: an entity owned, directly or indirectly, fifty per cent or more in the aggregate by one or more blocked persons is itself treated as blocked, whether or not it appears on a list by name.

5. What we will not do

We do not deal with persons or entities subject to sanctions, nor with comprehensively sanctioned territories.

We never misstate the origin, the destination or the end user of goods, in a document, in a declaration or in correspondence, and we do not accept an instruction to do so.

We do not structure a transaction, a routing or a payment in order to avoid the application of a sanctions or export control rule, and we do not assist another party to do so.

We do not supply goods where we know, or have reason to believe, that they are intended for a prohibited end use, including a military, nuclear, missile or chemical and biological weapons end use where that end use is controlled.

6. Red flags

A transaction is stopped and reviewed before it proceeds where any of the following appears:

- the end user is unwilling to be named, or the stated end use does not fit the goods or the quantity;
- the delivery address, the consignee or the routing changes after the contract is agreed, or the routing is not commercially sensible;
- payment is offered from a third party, from an unrelated jurisdiction, or in a manner that obscures its origin;
- the counterparty asks for documents to show something other than the facts;
- the counterparty, its owners or the destination are connected to a sanctioned territory.

A red flag is resolved on the evidence or the transaction is declined. It is not resolved by assurance alone.

7. Records

Screening results, the identity evidence obtained, the end user information and the reasons for any decision to decline are kept with the transaction file for at least five years from the date of the transaction, in line with the record keeping periods of the US sanctions and export control regulations.

8. Training and review

Anyone acting for the company is made aware of this policy before handling an enquiry. The policy is reviewed at least once a year and whenever a sanctions programme that affects our trade changes materially.

9. Reporting a concern

A concern about a transaction, a counterparty or this policy may be raised directly with the member at info@ispgroupgc.com. A concern raised in good faith has no adverse consequence for the person raising it.
